Winning Heritage Sketch By Cawthon

Billy Cawthon, a sophomore at Canyon High School, won first place in the Panhandle Heritage contest to select a sketch to be reproduced in stone and placed at the entrance of the Palo Duro Canyon Amphitheater.

Subject of the sketch was to have centered around West Texas State College, chosen by the Heritage committee because they felt the college has had the greatest significance in the economic, cultural and overall development of Randall County.

The Cawthon sketch was accepted as first because of its adaptability to reproduction in relief on stone, neatness of presentation and artistic value.

Some of the best sketches entered in the competition did not meet the requirement that they be adapted to reproduction in stone, according to a stone cutter consultant.

Many of the other entries in the contest earned honorable (See WIN, Page 3)

Area Gets Needed Moisture

The long dry spell of the last several months was finally broken in dust-settling showers that dumped .64 of an inch of water on the prairie.

There was .23 of an inch Sunday night and another .41 of an inch Monday night.

Many farmers in the area were beginning to plow under their winter wheat which was drying up, but the life-saving rain changed that. For some it was too late but for most it was a pleasant sight.

A tourist coming through the country would have possibly been surprised to see people popping out doorways and children in the streets, all gazing at what appeared to be a rare sight in the Panhandle—rain.

The rains didn't come any too soon from the viewpoint of prairie grass fires. To date there have been more than 52 separate grass fires in Randall County alone since the first of the year. Heavy rains last Summer and Fall caused high growth of grasses and weeds. Cold temperatures and lack of rain killed and dried out the high grass.

Careless smokers and hot-boxes on passing railroad trains did the rest, according to fire department authorities.

This rain was a good start if it doesn't quit there.

One write-in vote was cast.

Sheriff L. S. "Slim" Johnston is shown looking over the wreckage of a light plane in which William Leo Cooper met his death about noon Tuesday. Officers surmise Mr. Cooper attempted to land in a cross wind and his plane was flipped into high tension wires.

High Crosswind Blamed

Pilot Killed In Crash

A Canyon man was killed about noon Tuesday in the fiery crash of his light plane as he attempted to land the craft in a strong cross wind.

Dead is William Leo Cooper, 53 years old, prominent area farmer.

The crash occurred at 12:10 o'clock on City Club Road about 2 1/2 miles northwest of Canyon.

Officers believe Mr. Cooper died instantly. He is believed to have been attempting a landing on the City Club Road pavement when the wind threw his aircraft into high tension wires on the east side of the road.

An electric clock in the O. H. Dixon home on the west side of the road, near the scene of the crash, stopped at 12:10 thus recording the exact time of the tragedy.

The aircraft came to rest on its back in a plowed field about 50 yards east of the power line. The plane was demolished.

The craft pulled a high tension wire with it and the wire still was attached to it when authorities arrived delaying rescue operations several minutes.

Mr. Cooper was returning from his farm at Lockney. He had flown to Lockney Monday and was returning to Canyon to accompany his wife, Marie, an internationally known hair stylist, to Chicago.

Judge Garrett, Clovis, N.M., provided a vivid eye witness account of the mishap. Garrett was driving east on Highway 60 enroute to Amarillo when he saw Mr. Cooper's plane approaching.

"I wanted to see how a pilot would land in such rough weather," he declared.

The US Weather Bureau in Amarillo said the wind was from the southwest at 34 miles an hour with stronger gusts about the time of the tragedy. There was blowing dust but visibility was good.

Garrett said the plane appeared to be attempting a landing on the road pavement and was approaching the north-south road from the north.

"He was coming in perfect, it looked like to me," Garrett related. "He hit the ground and I thought he had made it. It must have been a rough landing."

Garrett said the plane went back into the air and apparently the left wing struck the adjacent power line which carried 7,620 volts of electricity. Federal investigators said wreckage indicated that it was the propeller which struck the high tension wire.

Mr. Cooper was a wheat and cattle farmer and rancher. He had holdings both at Lockney and in Colorado. He was a veteran pilot and used his Aerocoupe regularly in his farming and ranching operations.

Mr. Cooper was born June 10, 1909 at Lockney and grew up there. He was graduated from Lockney High School and attended West Texas State College.

Interest Quickens As Balloting Nears

A record vote is expected Saturday when Canyon Independent School District elects two trustees.

Five candidates are running for two vacancies.

Appearing on the ballot in this order will be Newton Crain, Walter Graham, JoZach Byrd, A. W. Lair and Bob Wear.

Wear is an incumbent and presently is president of the board. Mrs. Clay Cooper is retiring from the board and is not seeking reelection.

Interest in this year's school board election quickened when the board failed to renew the contract of Superintendent Joe A. Gibson. Gibson has been superintendent here since 1952.

Aubrey Crossland is election judge. Paper ballots will be used. Polls will open at Canyon American Legion Hall at 8 o'clock Saturday morning and will close at 7 o'clock Monday evening.

Crain has lived in the Canyon community for the past 43 years—since he was a small boy. Presently he is a wheat and stock farmer.

He is a graduate of West Texas State College. He did graduate work at WT and taught school two years. He was on the Terra Blanca School board three terms before consolidation and served two terms on the Canyon board in the early 1950s.

He now is a member of the board of Consumers Fuel & Elevator.

Graham is a farmer and stockman. He has been active in Canyon community affairs since moving here in 1928. He served 14 consecutive years on the school board. He is a well-known Hereford breeder and has held many top offices in state and area Hereford breeders' associations. He also is active in Farm Bureau work.

Byrd is a long-time resident of Canyon. He is a farmer and has been active in church and community affairs. Byrd grew up in Randall County and graduated from Canyon High School.

Eighth Grade Student Wins Spelling Bee

Terry Blasdel, a 14-year-old eighth grader, will represent Canyon at the area spelling bee to be held in Stephen F. Austin Junior High School in Amarillo April 20.

Terry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sherwood Blasdel, spelled accommodation and then ambassador Friday to win the Randall County spelling bee after the runner up, Phyllis Hunnicutt, missed accommodation.

Phyllis, 12 years old, is a seventh grader and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Hunnicutt.

Winner of the junior bee was Hal Owen, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Owen, Steve Huntington, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Huntington, was runner up in this division. The junior division is made up of fifth and sixth grade students.

Hal will not compete in the spelling match at Amarillo but his win entitles him to witness the contest and to attend the spelling bee banquet.

Pronouncer for the Randall County bee was Marion Shennum of the West Texas State English department.

Director was Wayland Angel, county judge and county school superintendent.

Governor Will Sign Bill Today

Governor John Connally is scheduled to sign the West Texas State University bill into law today.

Wilbur Evans, the Governor's press secretary, Wednesday said indications were that Connally would sign the historic bill Thursday.

Word here yesterday indicated that Senators Grady Hazlewood and Andy Rogers expect the historic signing some time this morning in the governor's office in Austin.

Meantime, there are big fixins on the UT campus.

A dance is scheduled from 3:30 until 5:30 this afternoon at Student Union Building. There will be a barbecued chicken dinner outside east of the cafeteria.

From 5:30 until 9:30 there will be a carnival in the Student Union Building. From 9:30 until midnight there will be dancing again.

University status is expected to be a great deal of benefit to WT in obtaining foundation money for various projects as well as lending prestige to the athletic department. These are only two of the ways in which the institution is expected to be benefited by the new status.

The university bill already has passed the House and the Senate.

Mrs. Cooper said the board has screened out about half of the applications.

These two Canyon High School beauties are candidates in the Lions Club Queen contest which will be held Friday night. They are

Red Squad Whips White Team In Buff Scrimmage

BY MIKE MOON

Hoot Gibson and Pistol Pete Pedro were very "offensive" to the White team last Saturday afternoon as they teamed up to score seven touchdowns and lead the Red squad to a 54-36 win in the third spring scrimmage game of the year for West Texas State.

The Red team literally jumped down the Whites' throats in the first of 10 eight-minute periods during the scrimmage to score three touchdowns and take the lead for good.

The Whites threatened several times to come within the close margin of a single touchdown only to have the Red teamers, comprised of the first, fourth and fifth teams, shoot farther ahead with long runs or spectacular pass patterns.

This was the final spring contest for the aspiring Buffaloes of 1963 who wound up the spring training season last Wednesday night with the annual Alumni Varsity game at Buffalo Bowl. Results of that contest were unavailable at press time.

The top candidate for the quarterback slot for next year, Hoot Gibson, struck first blood early in the first period with an 11-yard scamper to paydirt. The initial score was set up with a 31-yard pass to end Jim Ostrander and a 15-yard toss to halfback Jerry Richardson.

Little Pistol Pete literally "gunned down" the opposition. All Pedro did was to cover 217 yards in a mere nine trips about the gridiron for an average carry of 24.6 yards. The second Red score was tallied by

Pedro with a little more than three minutes left to play in the first eight-minute period. Pistol Pete shot around left end for 76 yards and six points. Pedro swept end and a White team defender had a good angle on him at the sidelines but Pedro twisted and jumped and he was gone—all the way. With mere seconds remaining in the period, Gibson added his second and the team's third score of the game with the aid of blocks by guard Jim Denny and end Quinton Eppinette. Gibson traveled 26 yards around right end and was sprung loose to the end zone by the two blocks administered on the sidelines.

The Reds tallied a total of nine touchdowns with seven of them being scored by the talented twosome of Gibson and Pedro. The remaining two scores came as a result of the efforts of fullback Russ Mundy. Mundy, a sophomore at present with two more years of eligibility remaining, bulled his way 16 yards for one score and tallied the other on an 80-yard scamper right through the middle of the third team's line.

Russ Mundy Big Factor In Buff Victory Hopes

By MIKE MOON

Just about as broad as he is tall, big Russ Mundy will be carrying much of the load in West Texas State's nine-game schedule for 1963.

The correct nomenclature is Russell Mundy, Jr. Russell hails from Harrisburg, Pa., the same hometown of Ollie Ross, a teammate.

Both Mundy and Ross are fullbacks, too, and they have both been causing a lot of talk around West Texas State. Ross' kicking ability has caused him to be already a future draft choice of the San Francisco 49ers whereas Mundy has the distinction of being the current first team fullback in what looks like one of the best competitive positions on the team.

Sitting in the second-squad spot is Bill Loran who played for the Buffs two years ago and has returned to play again for WT. Ross is the third-team fullback even though he did start about half of the season last year.

Mundy stands a relatively short 5-11 but has a stocky 200-plus pound frame to bull his way around with. Last year as a sophomore, Russ started the half of the season that Ross didn't and wound up as the team's second-best ground gainer with 476 yards in 90 carries for an average of 5.3 yards.

Coach Joe Kerbel, head gridiron mentor at WT, gave Mundy the nickname of "The Original Buffalo" during one of the weekly BAM (Buck-A-Month) Club meetings after Mundy had ripped and roared through the last victim of the 1962 Sun Bowl champion Buffaloes.

Mundy played for John Harris High School in Harrisburg and was the starting fullback in his junior and senior years. During those years, John Harris High was the runner-up in the Central Pennsylvania League.

As far as personal performances were concerned, Mundy wasn't to be left out. His total yards gained rushing during the two seasons topped the 2000-yard mark while scoring approximately 12 touchdowns in the 20 games.

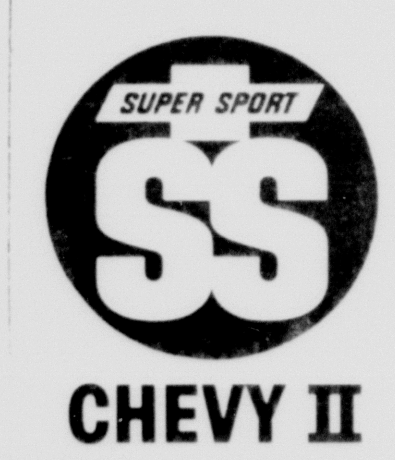

Harrisburg is in the midst of one of the country's most productive steel centers and is a city of about 110,000 with five high schools.

Mundy came to West Texas after the encouragement by Ross and started on the freshman team in 1961. Then as a sophomore, Mundy started to tear everyone up with his highly-aggressive style of playing. The game that skyrocketed Mundy to his current football fame was against Arizona State at Tempe. As most will recall, that was the game that Jerry Logan raced 99 yards with an intercepted pass and then caught a pass in the end zone to score two more points that eventually won the game 15-14.

The unsung hero, however, was Russ Mundy. The Buffs got the ball in the fourth period after the Sun Devils failed to get a drive going. Muscles Mundy took the ball play-by-play from the West Texas 21 yard line to Arizona State's 5 yard line before the clock ran out keeping the Buffs from scoring again.

Names Are Selected For WT Dormitories

Names selected for the two new dormitories and a new name for Randall Hall at West Texas State College have been approved by the Board of Regents of Texas State Teachers Colleges, President James P. Cornette has announced.

Two former deans of the college, the late D. A. Shirley and the late R. P. Jarrett, will be honored, with the new women's hall to be called "Shirley Hall." The big men's residence will be designated "Jarrett Hall."

Randall Hall, whose old unit, now replaced by a new addition, was one of the oldest housing units on campus, will be renamed "McCaslin Hall," honoring the late Mrs. Nancy McCaslin, director of the hall for nearly 20 years.

The two new dormitories are expected to be completed by September. Shirley Hall will house 196 women, while new Jarrett Hall will accommodate 392 men.

The late Dean Shirley received his B.A. degree from Texas Christian University, his M.A. from the University of Michigan, and the LL.D. from TCU. He served as professor of physics and head of the department at WT from 1913-23, when he became registrar and associate dean. He was registrar and dean of the upper division of the college from 1942-47, when he retired.

Dr. Jarrett received the B.S., M.A., and Ph.D. degrees from George Peabody College for Teachers. He served many years as professor of education and head of the department.

"The welfare of the student was always given priority by Dean Jarrett. His personal and official integrity, his loyalty to the institution he served from 1920 until his death in 1946, and the strength of his private life make it appropriate that the new dormitory for men be known as "Jarrett Hall," Dr. Cornette said.

Mrs. McCaslin, who retired from the WT staff in 1954, went for a while as a supervisor at Trinity University in San Antonio. She died last year.

She was made director of Randall Hall in 1936 after the dormitory had been reorganized in 1934 as a cooperative home for girls because of the depression.

"Because Mrs. McCaslin's name became strongly identified with the dormitory and because the sum of Mrs. McCaslin's characteristics and abilities represents a woman of uncommon stature, we believe that she deserves the honor of having the hall she carried through a span of 18 years named for her," Dr. Cornette said.

The annual effort to encourage students to become, and teachers to remain, teachers, gets underway in April with the sixth annual observance of Teaching Career Month. Theme of the 1963 observance is "Teachers At Work."

Several national news stories featuring teachers are scheduled to break during the month. Among them: awarding by the Department of Classroom Teachers, National Education Association, of the Hilda Macbelling Fellowship, which are grants of stipends to enable classroom teachers to carry on professional projects; announcement of the "National Teacher of the Year," selected jointly by the Council of Chief State School Officers, the U.S. Office of Education, and Look Magazine; and release of a major report by the NEA Research Division on The American Public School Teacher, 1960-61, surveying the modern teacher's personal and professional characteristics.

WT Students To Wayland

Scores of local groups across the land are expected to take part in this annual event which dramatizes the importance of recruiting, preparing, and holding top-notch teachers.

Some specific objectives of Teaching Career Month are: (1) To raise the prestige of teaching as a profession... among students, teachers, parents and the entire community. (2) To encourage larger numbers of qualified youngsters to become teachers. (3) To influence more good teachers to remain in the profession (4)

Canyon Girls On Program At Floydada

Linda, a junior at Canyon High School, and Ann, Velora, and Rita, students at West Texas State College, appear regularly in a number of concerts and hymn sings in the Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas area.

Floydada Baptist Church hosted the convention which was attended by visitors from New Mexico, Oklahoma, Kansas, and Texas. The Singing Convention is held each fifth Sunday in the high plains.

Pastor Leaves Monday For Far East Crusade

Strauss Atkinson, pastor of Canyon First Baptist Church, will leave Monday for the Orient.

He will participate in the Japanese New Life Movement of the Baptist Church.

Originally the plan for this movement called for an attempt by the Japan Baptist Convention to carry the message of the church to an entire nation in one mighty effort.

Now, the crusade plans have been enlarged to include Korea, Okinawa, Guam, Taiwan, Hong Kong and the Philippines. Baptist leaders say this possibly is the largest scale evangelistic effort in the history of Christendom.

The percentage of Christians, Protestant and Catholic, has not risen far above one-half of one percent of a population of 94 million Japanese. All Protestant churches now claim a membership equal to about one third of one percent of the population, or about three persons per thousand.

Baptist leaders look upon Japan as a non-Christian country. There is no lack of religions in Japan, however. The majority of the Japanese people either are Buddhist or Shintoist or both.

Atkinson will arrive in Tokyo Tuesday and will spend three days in an orientation program. Wednesday there will be a well-known reception sponsored by the Japan Baptist Convention. The U.S. ambassador, governor of Tokyo, and other notables will attend.

Saturday morning Atkinson will fly to Kokura on the southern island of Kyushu. He will be guest preacher for the Tomino Baptist Church for eight days. The pastor is Kyuji Sugano.

Atkinson will meet Mrs. Atkinson and Dr. Leta Boswell in Tokyo April 23 and they will fly to Hong Kong for a four-day tour. Then he will go to Taipei, Taiwan (Formosa) where he will be an evangelistic crusade with the people of Free China. He will be at Taipei and Chungli.

Approximately eleven million people live in this small area of Taiwan, on a land area about the size of Massachusetts and Connecticut. More than 7 million people are known as Taiwanese.

In reality they are Chinese from the Tuki Province, just 90 miles across the sea of the east coast of China proper. These people migrated to Formosa about three hundred years ago.

Mixed among the Formosans are about three million people from the mainland of China who fled to the island to escape the communists in China.

They are from every province of China proper and from almost every class of people. Baptist have about 28 churches and 50 missions among these people.

After conclusion of the Taiwan Crusade, Atkinson will return to the States, arriving in Amarillo, Tuesday, May 7.

Mrs. Atkinson and Dr. Boswell will leave here April 13. They will join a tour group in Tokyo and tour Japan. They will join Atkinson for the tour of Hong Kong and then return to this country by way of the Philippines while Atkinson goes on to Formosa.

The two women will arrive back home May 1.

Attendance Is Good For Final Community Concert

More than 350 persons heard the final program of Canyon Community Concert Association for the season Monday evening.

Appearing in the high school auditorium was the Fine Arts Quartet, acclaimed as one of America's great ensembles.

Also at the meeting, seven new members were elected to the board of directors of the association, for three year terms. They were Herschel Coffey, George Eason, Dr. Manley Bryan, Dr. Joe Findley, and Mesdames Donna Wilson, Gerald Dietz and Glen Dowlen.

New officers will be elected in the near future. Mrs. A. W. Lair is outgoing president of the association.

Programs presented this year have been some of the finest ever sponsored in Canyon. They have included the Carlos de la Camara Spanish ballet, Israeli pianist David Bar-Illan, and the quartet.

The Spanish ballet troupe, composed of very young artists, provided perhaps the most colorful and strictly entertaining program of the season. Young Bar-Illan overwhelmed the audience with his dashing appearance and superb artistry. And the Fine Arts quartet seemed to draw its audience with it in total communion.

In addition to extensive tours in America and Canada, this group has toured in Europe, Australia and New Zealand. Its versatile career has encompassed many "firsts" in concert, broadcast, television, movies, teaching and recording.

More than 600 persons in the Canyon and adjacent area participated in the association this season.

when he suddenly broke through the congestion of red and white-shirted players, darted into the open and barely beat another halfback, Jerry King, to the end zone as King pulled down his prey right at the final stripe.

The other five White TD's were scored by the second unit against the fourth. Quarterback Boots Barker passed 38 yards to end Butch Walterscheid for the first score and later to halfback David McInturf for a showy 75-yard pass patterning in the end zone.

Halfbacks Tony Waters and Dennis Flanagan each scored on 24-yard runs while second-string fullback Bill Lorange blasted through right guard on a 58-yard scoring run.

Among those receiving praise from Kerbel included ends Walterscheid and Bruce Kimery, centers Charles Daves and Doc Rowell, plus fullbacks Ollie Ross, Mundy, and Lorange.

"We had a number of backs who ran well with the ball," Kerbel commented. "I thought Ollie Ross did the best all-around job of the backs; but Gibson, Pedro, Richardson, Flanagan, Job Locker, and Woody Lockhart also did some fine running."

The only injury of the session was an injured hand sustained by end Jim Ostrander.

New Buff Cage Coach Honored At Gathering

"I've followed this team since I was a little boy and little did I think that it would be my destiny ever to coach it."

With these words Jimmy Viramontes expressed his delight at being head basketball mentor at West Texas State College.

Viramontes spoke at a gathering of basketball fans on hand for a reception for the new coach and his wife, Alta. Jimmy grew up at Las Cruces, New Mexico. Mrs. Viramontes is from Austin.

Viramontes was assistant coach at the University of Texas until his resignation became effective Monday.

The 5-foot, 7-inch Viramontes comes to West Texas with the recommendation of some of the outstanding coaches in the country.

"I'm not a miracle maker," Viramontes told his audience. "I'm just a human being. Basketball has been my life and I think the way to do great things is to pray hard, work hard and dream hard. My goal here is to do as much as I can."

Viramontes praised Gus Miller. "He is an all-time great basketball coach," he declared. West Texas State has been the greatest basketball school in the Southwest, Viramontes noted. "With the exception of the University of Texas, it has produced more all-American players than all the other schools in the Southwest put together," he asserted.

The new coach said he would go out for size and speed in recruiting. Here he stopped to explain that he would not approach for recruiting any boy whom he had contacted while on the pay roll of the University of Texas.

"I'm just glad that I didn't see Bob Begert play while I was with the University," he declared.

Viramontes touched on the strategy he will use. He said he believes he brings here a knowledge of the game of basketball and the ability to handle personnel.

He said he hopes to line up a tough schedule. "I'd rather always play as the under dog," he asserted.

Viramontes will begin recruiting for West Texas immediately.

Plans are in the mill to form a basketball booster club for support of the college basketball program.

Attendance at the mass immunization program was a little better than local health authorities were expecting according to Dr. J. Manly Bryan.

A make-up clinic will not be held at Canyon. Persons who need to make up one of the prior inoculations can attend one of the clinics to be held in Amarillo.

Service groups and volunteers contributed their time along with doctors and nurses at the Type I, Type II, and Type III inoculations. Oral Vaccines One and Two were administered by local health authorities last fall but the third Vaccine was delayed after a few isolated cases of polio were reported in Canada.

dent about a year ago and has not been able to do heavy work since. Wilson said that contributions to the Cynthia Stipe Fund may be made either to him at the office of Randall County Justice of the Peace or to Levi Cole at First National Bank.

Wilson urged all interested people to send the child an Easter card.

Thousands Get Sabine Innoculation

Vaccine treated sugar cubes were dispensed to approximately 3,500 men, women, and children at the third Sabine Oral Vaccine Clinic which was held at the Canyon Elementary School last Sunday afternoon.

Stipe Fund Still Grows, At $472

The fund for little Cynthia Stipe is growing. Cynthia, 8 years old, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Stipe, is a victim of lung cancer.

Bill Wilson, who is in charge of the fund, said a total of $472 had been contributed. The fund still is growing, Wilson said.

Wilson said plans are afoot for an Easter party for the little tyke who underwent surgery only recently for removal of the affected lung.

The father suffered a severe injury in a ranching accident.

Fire Pact Is Renewed By County

County commissioners Monday renewed a rural fire contract with the city of Canyon.

The new contract extends to March 31, 1965, and provides for payment of $100 a fire to the city for fighting rural fires in the county.

The county recently signed over its fire truck to the city of Canyon.

Randall county has a similar contract with the fire departments of Amarillo and Happy.

In other business commissioners voted to buy a calculator at $510, an electric typewriter at $441 and a manual typewriter at $184.98. All are of the Olivetti brand and all were purchased from Amarillo Office Machines.

The county's bill for fire fighting came to near $5,000 for the first quarter. The bill was approved for payment.

SCD News

For the suburban dweller who has a soil problem in his garden, or the engineer looking for a building site, the latest publication by the U. S. Soil Conservation Service will come in mighty handy. It is called "KNOW YOUR SOIL" and explains how soil scientists of the Department of Agriculture are gradually mapping the soils of this country and what these maps mean to every citizen.

A copy may be obtained from the local SCS office, Randall County Court House or Box 417, Canyon, Texas. Mr. Batson Work Unit Conservationist, said.

A soil is three-dimensional, according to the publication. "It is bounded on the top by the surface of the land, on the bottom by rock, and on the sides by other soils. The first job of the soil scientist is to distinguish between these separate soils. More than 70,000 different kinds are recognized now. In Randall Co. 51 different soils have been mapped. While the original purpose of making soil surveys was to provide information to the Nations farmers so that they could better take care of its food-producing soil, gradually more and more people in all walks of life are seeing the need about soil. Mr. Batson said. "Septic tanks that won't work, houses that slide from their foundations, and highways that crack up, might be prevented by knowing more about soils."

Jackie Barnard of White Deer visited with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Barnard over the week end.

Hal Owen won the junior spelling bee here last week. (See story elsewhere in this section.)

Mr. and Mrs. Curt Samples, Sr., spent last week end in La Junta, Colorado, visiting with their son and his family, Mr. and Mrs. Curt Samples, Jr., and daughter, Pamela.

Curt, Jr., left for South America on Wednesday. His wife and daughter will join him in June.

The Blaylocks took home Kerri Kris who had been staying with her grandparents.

Mrs. Jo Carroll Dutton and Mrs. Grace Dutton of La Junta, Colorado, visited with Mr. and Mrs. George Barker over the week end and attended the funeral for John F. Barker.

City manager Bill York, left, gives a helping hand to Canyon volunteer firemen as they refill the city fire truck at the big prairie fire Thursday of last week. York often aids fire fighting efforts in the county by filling and bringing the city water truck to the scene of the fires when needed. It was needed Thursday.

City Firemen Called To More Rural Grass Fires

Canyon fire department had another busy week with grass fires. The B. E. McCormick farm north of Canyon was the victim Thursday of one of the largest grass fires to hit the county this year.

Some 800 acres were devoted of pasture grass when a passing Santa Fe train ignited uncleaned weeds on the right-of-way. The fire spread to the adjacent pasture under the heading of a thirty knot Canyon firemen, aided by Amarillo fire department and volunteers with wet sacks, brooms and farm plows, fought the fast moving grass fire from 11:30 a.m. until late in the afternoon.

At the same time the firemen were working on the big fire between Canyon and Amarillo, other Canyon firemen, aided by a crew from Umlar, were trying to put out a series of grass fires along the Santa Fe right-of-way between Canyon and Umlar. Canyon fire captain, Joe Rice, said the same Santa Fe train set these fires that set the Canyon-Amarillo fire. There were even fires within the city limits of Canyon.

Randall County paid some $5000 this week to the Canyon fire department for its county fire fighting efforts--mostly railroad right-of-way fires.

On March 29 at 4 a.m., the Canyon firemen answered a call to the Tony Hartman farm where a hog barn was burning. The firemen got to the scene too late to save the barn. Rice said the barn was pretty nearly destroyed when they got the call. He said the fire started from burning trash.

More grass fires on the Santa Fe right-of-way occupied the Canyon fire fighters March 30

Both the Canyon fire department and the emergency unit were dispatched to a plane crash Tuesday northwest of Canyon on the City Club Road in which William Leo Cooper was killed.

Also on Tuesday at 9:50 p.m. south of Canyon on I.S. 87, the Canyon firemen put out an engine fire on a car belonging to James Wade Vines, Jr., of Hereford. The fire started when a fuel pump leaked gasoline and ignited. Damage was limited to the engine of the car.

Ancient Indian Bones Found By Ranch Woman

BY JIM THOMAS

The skeleton of an ancient Indian was unearthed last week in the Texas Panhandle on Battle Creek, a tributary of the Little Prairie Dog Town Fork of the Red River in the lower end of Palo Duro Canyon.

Jack Hughes, curator of paleontology at the Panhandle Plains Museum in Canyon, with the aid of two assistants, Jim Word of Floydada and Jim Thomas of Canyon, exposed, preserved and removed the skeleton to the Canyon museum where it will be reconstructed and studied for information on the early Indians of the Great Plains.

The age of the skeleton was tentatively set at 1000 years by Hughes who said the absence of pottery fragments with the skeleton and at the nearby camp site in which the skeleton was buried might indicate that the Indian was of a pre-pottery grouping. Pottery came into use on the Great Plains about 1000 A. D., he said.

Hughes emphasized, however, that setting the age for this skeleton was purely guesswork and could easily be wrong.

Fragments of charcoal were found intermingled with the skeleton but not enough that it could be dated by carbon-14 analysis, a method which can date the age of charcoal with some accuracy.

A flint hide scraper was found in the dirt over the grave but it could not be associated with the skeleton as it could have washed in from another location, Hughes said. The scraper was found when the loose dirt was passed through a screen in the search for bone fragments.

The skeleton was found originally by a lady amateur anthropologist, Mrs. Bill Thornberry of Brice Station, Clarendon. She found the remains while searching the area for arrowheads. Walking down a cutbank on the edge of Battle Creek on the Thornberry Ranch, she said she noticed a white bone protruding from the edge of the cut.

Thinking it might be a mastodon or mammoth bone of the prehistoric elephants that once roamed the Plains, Mrs. Thornberry said she started sifting the loose sand away from the exposed piece of bone.

She soon found, however, that the white piece of bone was the top of a human skull and that as she continued to expose it to the air it became more and more delicate until it began to crumble at the slightest touch.

Thinking the skull might be that of an early Indian and knowing that the bones were in a very fragile condition after the long stay in the sands of the creek bank, Mrs. Thornberry contacted the Panhandle Plains Museum in Canyon and asked that an expert bone picker come look at the remains. The museum sent Jack Hughes, its curator of paleontology.

When Hughes got to the scene of the burial, he found that Mrs. Thornberry had had the foresight to cover the exposed portion of the skeleton with plastic bags and an iron pot to protect it from the elements.

Hughes credited Mrs. Thornberry's foresight with the good condition of the skeleton. She said that she had been sorely tempted to continue excavating the bones but knew she might destroy them if she did.

Hughes assured Mrs. Thornberry that the skeleton was that of an early Indian and was in addition a "flexed burial" in which the Indian's relatives and friends had ceremoniously buried him with the legs doubled forward and the hands and arms crossed under the knees and over the chest.

Following a close examination of the skeleton and of the surrounding camp site in which the body had been buried, Hughes said he thought the Indian had been a young male, probably in his early twenties.

Hughes pointed to the even teeth, still perfectly preserved, saying the skull of an Indian could usually be distinguished from that of a Mexican or European person by the way the teeth fitted together.

He said the rough foods the Indians ate, combined with dirt and sand, kept the Indian's teeth worn down until they met edge to edge. The teeth of the Mexican or European overlap, he said.

Carefully using fine brushes and even dental tools to scrape the sand away from the bones, Hughes and his assistants dripped thin shellac on each bone as it became exposed to the air. Hughes explained to Mrs. Thornberry that exposure to the air after being buried in the sand for so long would cause the bone crumble into a fine powder. The thin shellac penetrated the bone, hardening and preserving it, he said.

It became evident, after the skeleton was exposed, that burrowing ground rodents had seriously disturbed the bones while digging their burrows through the cutbank. Many of the smaller finger and toe bones were found several feet from the skeleton where rodents had carried them out of their burrows.

As each piece of bone was brushed free of sand and treated, the sand was placed on a wide meshed screen where it was sifted, thus saving many small pieces of bone and fragments that otherwise would have been lost.

The bits and pieces would all become valuable later when student paleontologists at West Texas State College would piece the skeleton back together.

When Hughes had uncovered the skeleton so that its position and most of its bones could be discerned, photographs were taken from all angles and under varying light conditions. These photographs would later be used to guide the skeleton's reconstruction in the laboratory. They would also become a part of the museum's paleontological and anthropological record for future reference.

Hughes told the group the value of this particular skeleton find would lie with the information it would yield.

He said the size and shape of the skull would give some indication as to what group of Indians the skeleton was from. The teeth would tell their own story of the eating habits of the dead Indian while the length and size of the arm and leg bones would tell of the Indian's size.

The condition of the various bones would indicate the Indian's health. Traces of old breaks and injuries were evident in the bones.

Hughes said the location of the burial in relation to the nearby old campsite would also yield information about the Indian and his relatives. The absence of pottery fragments in the burial and at the nearby campsites might indicate that the burial was of a pre-pottery Indian—some 1000 years old, Hughes said.

M.L. Bewley Dies At Tulia

Maurice L. Bewley died recently in Tulia from effects of a heart attack. He attended school in Canyon, was a veteran of World War I, and a member of the Canyon National Guard.

Survivors include his wife, a daughter Rosemary Humphries of Mexia, a son Louis Wayne stationed with the Navy, his mother Mrs. Mamie Bewley of Canyon, and three brothers Jack of Oklahoma City, Oklahoma; Bill of San Bruno, Calif., and Jesse of Canyon.

Mrs. Gene Tanner of Amarillo visited recently with Mrs. J. H. Lisle.

Mrs. Bill Thornberry of Brice Station, Clarendon, an amateur anthropologist, poses by the paleo-Indian skeleton she found on her husband's ranch while searching for arrowheads. The skeleton of the Indian is shown partly exposed on the side of a cutbank in Battle Creek after it was excavated by Jack Hughes of the Panhandle Plains Museum in Canyon. Hughes credits Mrs. Thornberry with the foresight of leaving the skeleton undisturbed until he could get to the scene and preserve it against the effects of the weather. He said the Indian possibly lived before 1000 A.D.

"CUBAN BLOCKADE"

by Troy Martin

From The CANYON RIM

We heard an interesting story this week about a member of this community. Very few men in the history of the armed forces have skyrocketed to command as quickly as did Joe Gill, a Canyon farmer. Gill rose from the rank of platoon sergeant to that of company commander with four first lieutenants serving under him all in a period of three days in combat in Italy. Joe was given a field commission at the behest of his commanding general right after Salerno. He took over his company three days later. Joe's company distinguished itself in battle and in history. It was his company that liberated Edward Daladier from SS troops near the close of the war. Daladier was premier of France when World War II broke out. Joe's most important collar was that of Hermann Goering, Hitler's under feuder and heir apparent. The roly-poly Nazi surrendered to two privates from Joe's company. Joe Gill holds the silver star with oak leaf clusters. He also holds the distinguished service cross, ranked only by the Congressional Medal of Honor.

Joe is currently serving on the Canyon school board and is a member of the board of deacons of his church.

There is more talk about managed news these days and we're inclined to lay most of the guilt at the door of newspapermen themselves.

Any newspaperman who allows his news to be "managed" is not worth his salt. Of course, newspaper people cannot prevent government officials lying to them. But when the lie comes to light, and proper leg work on the part of the reporter involved will bring it quickly to light, the lie can be exposed.

The truth is that newspaper reporters have become used to getting their news from neatly mimeographed sheets. News thus obtained paints a fine portrait indeed of the government agency making the release.

Good reporting is hard work. It requires long hours and diligent thought but hard, factual news is the reason for a newspaper's existence. Factual, unbiased news is infinitely more valuable to the community and country than are editorial pages where the views of one man are enshrined.

We believe that many of the country's problems could be solved if only the nation's press would get up out of its easy chair and go to work.

We think the press has caught the "world owes me a living" fever that has been building up to epidemic proportions in this country since the days of the New Deal.

People who operate government agencies from the local level right on up to the top want to create a good public image. Public relations has become job insurance to bureaucrats--great and small.

These people spend much of their time concocting "news releases." These releases contain much good information but a reporter worthy of the name does not accept these as coverage of the agency to which he is assigned. If he's doing a good job, he will not be managed long.

Hilltop Views

Last week I referred to my inexperience in my early presidential years in legislative proceedings. It was more important than one might think. Coupled with a sense of inferiority that had plagued me most of my young life (and continued far into my adult years), I approached the Texas Capitol with light tread. I imagined that all the inhabitants of that commanding structure at the head of Congress Avenue were giants. I was afraid of them.

Fortunately, I had some acquaintance with President C. E. Evans of the San Marcos College, and fortunately too, he was more mature than I and felt more at home in legislative halls. He took me under his wing and conducted me through the mystic rites of lobbying for my budget.

At intervals I had tip-toed and pussy-footed my way through and between the House and Senate for 2 or 3 months and was beginning to feel that maybe the Capitol was not as dangerous a place as I had thought. The Regents had instructed us Presidents to ask for a raise in all salaries, including an increase from $3600 to $4,000.00 in our own.

The Appropriation Committee gave a favorable report and the bill was now before the House. We got wind that salary increases would be opposed by the "Retrenchers," which was an organized body of tax reductionists. Perhaps they would be called "Conservatives" these days. They had strong support from the several lobbies that infested the Capitol.

President Evans and I decided we would sit in on the floor of the House and see the fire-works. We took our seats to one side and well to the front of the hall, a legitimate practice in those days. The large schools--U. of T., A. & M., and College of Industrial Arts--came first and got by without much debate, but when the "Teachers Normals" were reached the cannon began to roar. The "Retrenchers" remembered how this bunch of "small fry" had run "rough shod" over the legislature in going to a senior college status, how they had increased the cost of operation, and how their Presidents had hung around Austin at state expense and pestered the life out of legislators to get their own salaries raised.

Finally, when the tall, black-whiskered, dynamic representative from Johnson County took the floor Evans and I sat up straight in our chairs. We knew the old man never spoke without skinning somebody and he was a Retrencher deluxe. We expected the worst and got it. After pouring a stream of rustic invective on the "Normals" as a group he concentrated his diatribe upon the presidents of those institutions. With dramatic fervor he turned toward President Evans and me, and pointing a long index finger in our direction he roared "There sets two of the buzzards (See HILLTOP, Page 3)

FORT LEE, VA. (AHTNC)--Army 2d Lt. Lt. Gary F. Dockery, 23, son of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Dockery, Canyon, completed an eight-week quartermaster officer orientation course at The Quartermaster Center, Fort Lee, Va., March 15.

Lieutenant Dockery was instructed in the duties and responsibilities of a newly commissioned officer in the quartermaster corps.

The lieutenant entered the Army in January 1963.

In Amarillo the chief of detectives used to call us in for a "press conference" every morning and every afternoon.

It made our job easy. We just checked by twice a day, banged out what information we gleaned there and that was that. It didn't take much of this to convince us that we were being "managed."

We got a tip on a house burglary in west Amarillo that somehow had not been covered in the chief's briefing. We went out to the neighborhood and spent an entire afternoon inquiring door to door about burglaries. We learned that about 40 such house burglaries had been pulled off within a short period of time and the news of these unsolved crimes had not been dispensed in the "press conference."

That ended news management then and there as far as we were concerned. We tried to be on hand when beat patrolmen changed shifts from then on and by talking to individual police-

Teachers Visit Former Student's Ranch, Farm

Miss Hazel Merritt was in Canyon last Friday to pick up two of her former teachers, Darthula Walker and Edna Graham, for a week end at her ranch near Hart.

Miss Merritt graduated from West Texas State College in 1933. A school teacher at Dimmitt until the death of her father, Miss Merritt now operates the ranch and is in charge of some farm acreage.

The teachers visited the stock farm and saw 77 Hereford steers being fattened for the market and a number of others grazing in the pasture. They drove over the two sections of farm land where a tenant raises cotton, wheat and other grains.

A bridge party was held Saturday afternoon and they attended a salad supper in Dimmitt sponsored by the Delta Kappa Gamma Society. An exchange student from Johannesburg, South Africa presented the program at the supper. Miss Walker and Miss Graham returned to Canyon on Sunday morning.

Bible Chair Fellowship Friday Night

Jack L. Mackey will be the featured speaker for the annual Church of Christ Bible Chair Fellowship of West Texas State College to be held Friday night at the college cafeteria. "The Challenge of the Sixties" will be the program given by Mackey, minister of the Southside Church of Christ in Amarillo.

Registration for the Fellowship will begin Friday afternoon at 4:30 in the Bible Chair Building, the evening meal will be served at 6:30.

The "Lavender Lads," a male quartet, and the "Sharp-Flats," a girls ensemble, will provide special music at the meal.

Guests will be welcomed by Dr. James Cornette, president of West Texas State College. Gordon Downing, Director of the Bible Chair will be the master of ceremonies at the program.

Bible Chair students will present a musical interpretation of the "Crucifixion," directed by Ronnie Throneberry and narrated by Ted Abbott.

Open house will be held at the Bible Chair following the program. The public is invited to view the student displays that will be presented.

From. . .

City Manager Bill York says he was driving by Buffalo Bowl the other night and suddenly wondered why a lighted WT is not placed at the stadium in such a manner as to be visible to night travelers on Highway 87.

Bill explained that such a sign would not be expensive and should do a lot to advertise West Texas State. It may be worth looking into.

The Manchester Guardian says the Labor Party in England is about to advocate a tax on property--including bank accounts--in excess of $80,000 in value.

This sounds about like the proposal that keeps popping up in this country that homes be appraised as to rental value and that the homeowner pay income tax on the amount he would receive if he were to rent the house but instead of living in it.

Hilltop. . .

(Continued from page 2) now." In less time than it takes to tell it Evans and I fled the Hall. Did we get our salaries raised? We sure did.

The above incident took place in the regular session of 1918-1919. In the following June the Governor called a special session. This opened the door for requests for more money. West Texas State badly needed a dormitory and had asked for it in the regular budget but the legislature had never granted such a building to a Normal School. Precedent was against building a dormitory at Canyon; and certain boarding-house keepers at Canyon had petitioned the legislature to deny the President's request.

However, other circumstances supported the President. The "flu" epidemic referred to in last week's article had taken a student life or two in a half dig-out in South Canyon. Students were scattered all over town--even a mile or two in the country. There were few residences east of the square and practically no transportation facilities. Students walked to the College regardless of weather conditions.

All of these facts had been placed before the legislature in regular session and had made an impression. But other circumstances were the determining factors when the legislature convened in June. It just happened that the College's summer session opened about the same time--a very large session, too. All incoming trains were loaded with students. On the day when the largest numbers came it rained a flood. Streets were afloated--no paving, few side walks and only one or two taxis. Young women in summer attire, wearing white shoes and stockings, tramped over town looking for boarding accommodations.

By another co-incidence the very train that brought the largest number of students also brought the Honorable Lee Satterwhite, our able representative in the legislature and a member of the Appropriations Committee of the House. He stepped off the train in a down-pour, and I was there to greet him. When he saw me he cried out loud enough for all to hear: "My God, Doctor, we've got to get these girls a dormitory!" And that's exactly what he did. Cousins Hall was erected that fall and winter and was opened to girls September 1920 with Mrs. Marion Witt as hostess. It has been enlarged twice--once in the 1930's and once in the 1950's.

This was the first dormitory ever erected on a Teachers College campus in Texas, and, excepting old Randall, remained the only one for many years. The original Randall was the second. (Purchased by the state in 1923.)

THE LOSS OF FREEDOM IS NO LAUGHING MATTER

Does it shock you to know that in Russia and Cuba most all business and industry, including electric service is owned or rigidly controlled by the state?

No, it doesn't—because you really expect that of a dictatorship.

But, here's a fact that will shock you! In 1935, YOUR federal government produced less than 1% of America's electric power. TODAY THIS FIGURE HAS CLIMBED TO 15%—and advocates of government-in-business press constantly for more.

Is it wise to let your federal government continue on a course that promises not less but MORE government ownership and control?

The loss of freedom is no laughing matter.

Witkowski Named Head Of Sportsmen's Club

Elected president of the Randall County Sportsman's Club Thursday night of last week was L. J. Witkowski, sporting goods dealer.

Other officers elected include Jim Thomas, vice-president; Clarence Beckman, treasurer; and Dr. Paige Carruth, secretary.

After accepting office as first president of the newly formed sportsmen's club, Witkowski told the group they could enjoy many such family affairs as the wild game supper on many occasions as members of the club.

More than 65 persons from Randall and Potter counties showed up for the elections and supper with all but a few paying their dues as charter members in the club.

Several helped put on the feed for the sportsmen with Buddy Hoskins preparing the deer and elk meat chili and Edgar Bane and Stanley McDonough preparing the elk, deer and antelope bar-b-q and steaks.

Witkowski prepared all the ducks, geese and pheasants for cooking which was done by Doc Weaver of Weaver's Dine-A-Teria. A large pot of pork and beans was brought to the supper by Mrs. Richard Coale.

Club members were asked to take home with them some of the excess meats and beans from the supper so that the young ones who didn't attend the supper could get a taste of the wild game.

The Randall County Sportsman's Club was organized several months ago by area sportsmen. The idea as stated at the Thursday night game supper was to provide a medium in which sportsmen and their families could have get-togethers as well as projects where-by area sportsmen could work on improving their hunting and fishing locally.

Witkowski told the group they would have their meetings on the last Thursday of each month at a place yet to be announced.

Some Club members are discussing holding a club fish fry soon after the winter vacation when all the sportsmen would have returned with surplus game fish.

Recent visitors of Mrs. Roy Gilbreath were Mr. and Mrs. Jack Wiggly from Clovis, New Mexico over the week end.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Nelson and Sherri and Jeana Monzingo of Amarillo recently visited Mrs. Roy Gilbreath, breath.

AROUND THE TOWN (with kids)

The Royal Ambassadors of Canyon and other communities are going to the Little Olympics Saturday. There will be events such as 50-100-220 yard dashes, broad jump, sack races and others. There will be many boys participating. Everyone will have fun.

Well kids, it's six weeks again. For school kids that means tests and work, work, work. It won't be so bad this time because there are only two more six weeks left in this school year. Still what about the report cards? Well, you probably will make better grades than you think you will!

At the last Student Council meeting we got under way our method of getting money from the school to buy some plants for the planter out in the front of the school. Mickey Ely had the sign about touching the curtains in the lunchroom. Someone brought up the subject about pouring salt in your hand in the lunchroom and then throwing it down on the floor. Mr. Hinger said he would announce it. Secretary Leslie Killingsworth had another brilliant idea. She and Mr. Hinger supplied ice cream bars for us.

CANYON BUSINESS REVIEW BUYER'S and GUIDE

Taylor-Evans can fill every fertilizer need of both the dry land and irrigated farmers. Taylor-Evans has the newest, latest and best equipment for giving the farmer the best results with the application of anhydrous ammonia.

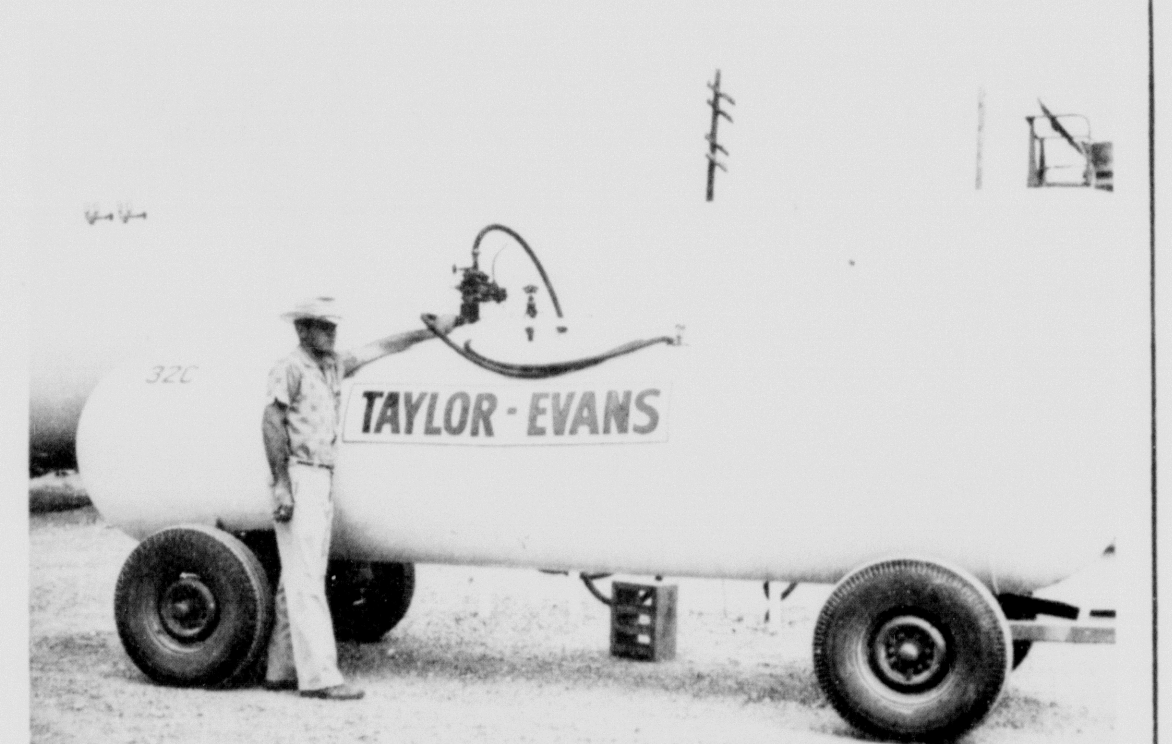

Taylor-Evans take the responsibility of getting the ammonia to the farmer's land, putting it on the crops and showing the farmer how to apply it.

They have custom applicators which make the application easier and faster for the farmer. They furnish everything and the farmer doesn't have to worry about anything.

All 1,000 gallon trucks owned and operated by Taylor-Evans have vapor pumps. After filling the tanks, the men at Taylor-Evans deliver the ammonia to the turn row and hook the rigs up for the farmer.

"We can fill a tank in about 20 minutes," says Virgil Sletzy.

The only thing the farmer has to do is furnish a tractor and driver and Taylor-Evans will hook up the equipment and show the driver how to operate it. All this service is available for no extra cost.

And after the ammonia has been applied the results speak for themselves.

Since this is the time to use anhydrous ammonia, Taylor-Evans invites you to come in and inquire about their credit plan . . . and do it now.

Jimmy Sorenson holds forward one of the stirrup leathers on one of the cutting horse saddles he makes. Sorenson wasn't satisfied with the regular cutting horse saddle design and couldn't find one to buy so he makes his own saddles.

Original Saddles Are Designed By Sorenson

BY JIM THOMAS

Jimmy Sorenson is a man who doesn't let problems stand in the way of originality.

Standing six foot three and looking for all the world like the Texas cowboy he is, Sorenson has been around horses all his life, especially cutting horses.

But he didn't like the design of the present day cutting horse saddles. So he decided to make his own. When he found that he couldn't buy a cutting horse saddle that suited him, he decided to learn the art of saddle making.

The difference in Sorenson's cutting horse saddles lies in their forward rise which is higher than usual. Being higher the rise on Sorenson's saddle tends to throw the rider's weight back against the cantle or rear seat of the saddle, an advantage in riding a rapidly stopping, starting and cutting horse while working cattle.

The rearward position of the rider also puts him in a better position to throw his full weight into the stirrups which are also a little forward of their usual position.

The way Sorenson has designed the saddle, the forward stirrups put the rider's legs in a direct line to support his weight which is further back on the saddle seat. Even the saddle tree, the foundation for the saddle and its accessories, is redesigned.

All the stitching and sewing on the Sorenson saddles is done by hand as he doesn't have the use of a stitching machine. Sorenson said this makes a lot of work that could otherwise be avoided but that he prefers it that way.

It takes him about three weeks to complete one of his fancier saddles with engraving and frills or "fancy work" as he calls it, but it makes a saddle that he can really be proud of, he says.

Sorenson uses most of his saddles at the horse concession of his tourist attraction, Six Gun City, east of Canyon.

He says he learned to work leather through his collections of antique guns. Especially interested in the Colt six gun, Sorenson started making holsters and leather equipment which he traded for more guns to fill his collection.

Wrestler Will Speak Before Church Youth

Tommy Phelps will speak at the Associational Youth Rally to be held at the First Baptist Church on Saturday night at 7:30 p.m.

Phelps is a professional wrestler and is expected to speak on the events which led him to be converted recently.

Youth from area churches will attend the meeting to be followed by a spaghetti dinner and a fellowship at the church.

Making saddles was the next jump from holster and belt work, he says.

Sorenson said he got interested in cutting horses years ago and has been riding and breaking them most of his life.

"In 1960 and 1961, we had the Grand Champion cutting horse in the Golden Spread area which we raised and trained. Those years too, we had the Champion yearling Appaloosa filly in the state of Texas. We have competed with our Appaloosas in the states of Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico," he said.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. N. W. Roberts over the weekend were Mrs. Norma Winningham and children from Roswell, New Mexico, and Mr. and Mrs. David Roberts of Amarillo.

L. J. Witkowski—top sportsman in Randall County. Randall County Sportsman's Club voted Witkowski as their first president Thursday night at the wild game feed the club put on. We feel that as the first choice for president, Witkowski has earned the respect of the area sportsmen and will make a good leader for the outdoorsmen.

Other officers for the club are:

HUNTING, FISHING AND CONSERVATION

Jim Thomas, vice-president; Clarence Beckman treasurer; and Dr. Paige Curruth, secretary. The officers are expected to get into an executive session sometime next week to prepare a program for the next club meeting, April 25. Meetings are the last Thursday of each month.

Fishing wise, the ardent sportsmen have already started out for the lakes and streams.

Witkowski left Saturday for an extended fishing trip to South Texas, we think. He was waiting at the last minute for weather reports to decide where to go.

Several of the local fishermen have been trying their luck out at old muddy with some success. Stanley McDonough reports that a fisherman brought in several nice channel cats at Buffalo Lake last week and Lonnie Peters and Ronny Meletti caught several small bass also last week.

Jim and Troy Martin of this tabloid also tried their luck at Buffalo Lake over the week and came home with some crappie.

Warm weather brings out adventure in the blood but unfortunately it also brings out the poor sportsmanship in some folks.

We are thinking particularly of a boy in a fast outboard (he must have thought it fast because he was running it wide open) at Buffalo Lake last Friday. Not satisfied with the big end of the lake to run around in, the boy insisted on racing around the area at the dam where all the not-so-patient fishermen were.

As if it weren't bad enough that the inconsiderate young one succeeded in rolling waves of water up onto the shore and the dam where folks were trying to fish—the boy's father was standing there taking it all in—never said a word to the boy that we know of. Probably complimented him later for being such a good boat handler. Some fun.

How about you? Do your kids behave that way outdoors. Hope not.

COUNTY AGENT'S COLUMN

The cost of water comes high in the plains country. Some recent sales of irrigated farms show that farmers are paying more for the water under the land than for the land itself. Grain sorghum producers figure it takes about one acre foot of irrigation water plus summer rains to produce a good crop of grain each year. This acre foot of water right now would cost $50.00 if purchased from the Canadian River Dam System.

Since 1937 the drop in water level in the High Plains area averaged 43 feet. There are several wells in Randall County now being used for test purposes to collect this drawn-down data.

The farm value of the wheat used in such a small proportion of the cost of a loaf of bread that considerable fluctuations can occur in farm prices without affecting the loaf price.

Returns to the farmer for all ingredients in a 1-pound loaf of bread declined from 3.3 cents in 1947-49 to 2.8 cents in 1960.

Most of us enjoy eating meat and each year the consumption per person rises. At first glance, when compared with the good ole days meat prices look high. But are they? Actually we are spending less for meat, on a comparative basis than we did before. About 7% of our total income was spent for meat in the 1920's, but only 4 1/4% is now spent for meat. We are also getting better meat today for less money. We have more grain fed animals and more consumer grades available in the stores to choose from.

Part-owner operators are becoming proportionately more important in Texas while tenants are declining rapidly. Part-owner operators, technically defined as persons who operate rented land in addition to the land they owned, composed 27% of all Texas farm operators in 1959. In 1950, they made up 19.1% of all operators and less than 8% in 1930.

The cutworms now doing damage to Randall County wheat are surface feeders. They cut off small plants at or near the soil surface and may devour the fallen host plant. The worms are active mostly at night and hide in the soil or under surface trash during the day. Grain fields attacked by this cutworm have the general appearance of having been grazed close to the soil surface. There is only one generation per year and the insect passes the winter as a larva in the soil or in debris affording it protection from extremely cold weather.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Meyer of Minneapolis, Minnesota have been visiting with Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Warren recently.

Week end guests of Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Lowry were Mr. and Mrs. Alex Hale from Plainview. J. W. Spencer visited his brother, Charles Spencer, at Pampa Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy L. Pendergraft of Amarillo visited recently with Mrs. T. T. Fain, Fain.

Canyon Group Enjoys Good Fishing Trip

The Harley Burruses, in company with Mr. and Mrs. T. J. "Curley" Meyers and Herman Brown, all of Canyon, returned this week from a successful fishing trip off Padre Island and near Corpus Christi.

Staying in the area some ten days, the Canyon group caught lots of fish including 25 drum weighing from 20 to 34 pounds. They also caught speckled trout, sand trout, flounder, croakers, red snapper, ambarjacks and gafftop catfish.

The group fished off Padre Island and from the shore as well as some 55 miles out into the Gulf off the snapper banks for the red snapper.

Bait was mostly shrimp and crabs. Burrus said the weather was fine though a little windy. The drum were biting in all the wind, Burrus said, and the trout were taking the bait on the one calm day they had.

Methodists To Service At Turkey

A deputation team from the Methodist Student Center at West Texas State College attended Sunday services at the First Methodist Church in Turkey.

Attending were: Pat Haley of Canyon, John Ness of Bledsoe, Lonnie Miller of Olton, and Lanelle Marcy, adult sponsor from the First Methodist Church of Canyon.

Mrs. J. M. White visited her sister in Snyder over the week end. Mrs. Ben S. Thorpe.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. Larrie C. Williams last week end were Mr. and Mrs. Claude Williams of Pampa.

Carola Southern has been visiting with Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Williams on this week while her parents, Dr. and Mrs. Burwell Southern, are visiting in New York City.

A farewell party honoring Don and Sarah Stark of Amarillo was given by Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Williamson recently.

Visiting with Mrs. Nina White over the week end was Mrs. A. C. Morris of Amarillo.

Mrs. Josie A. Combs entertained Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Barker of Amarillo and her son and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Atkins of Big Spring at a dinner recently. The dinner was held to celebrate Mrs. Barker's birthday.

Mr. and Mrs. Carter Williams visited with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Williams, at Stegall over the week end.

WHAT IS POOLING?

In spite of all the jokes about "oil-rich Texans," most Texans aren't rich. Relatively few of them have even one oil well.

All Texans have a stake in the oil business, however, because it makes jobs, puts money into circulation, and pays taxes.

Texas oil operators have to compete with those in other states and foreign countries. This competition is tough and growing tougher. Improvements in production methods for greater efficiency are necessary in Texas. It is a question as to whether Texans prefer to do this job themselves or let the federal government do it.

Many of the most responsible people in the oil industry believe the Texas Legislature can solve some of the most troublesome problems by passing House Bill 510, an oil and gas pooling bill. "Pooling" in oil field language simply means putting separately-owned pieces of acreage together, sharing costs of drilling a well, and splitting any income proportionately.

A fair pooling law would create drilling blocks of uniform and proper size (according to the spacing pattern of the field). It would help the industry to cut down on unnecessary development drilling and thus free capital for more "wildcat" drilling. It would provide a legal way for landowners to divide their minerals in proportion to their holdings.

An outcry has been raised against House Bill 510 by the professional "small-tract drillers," who for many years have enjoyed the legal sanction to produce oil and gas which rightfully belonged to someone else. Advocates of pooling do NOT think that property rights should be confused with the "right" to take another man's property — or that free enterprise should cover the FREE CONFISCATION of another's oil and gas.

Contrary to claims of persons who, for reasons of their own, want to retain the outmoded methods of the past, House Bill 510 does NOT tie up large blocks of acreage with one well; it does not affect any wells already drilled or reservoirs already developed; it does not take away the landowner's bargaining power or change the terms of any lease except to the extent necessary to form a drilling block. House Bill 510 would merely give all landowners an opportunity to have their properties developed when some owners cannot be located or one owner seeks to obtain an unfair advantage. The rights of all would be EQUALLY protected.

Ask your Senator and Representative at Austin to support House Bill 510 — so Texas, too, will have a reasonable and legal way to assure each landowner his FAIR SHARE.

NITROGEN FERTILIZER

FORM The farmer is in the fortunate position of being able to choose from a number of good nitrogen fertilizers. Compounds that supply nitrogen are available in three forms — dry, water solutions and anhydrous ammonia. These forms supply nitrogen in various concentrations. There are a number of different brands of each form of fertilizer, so the choice is broad.

We recommend anhydrous ammonia generally and Nitromite specifically for these reasons: 1) Anhydrous ammonia provides almost twice the nitrogen by volume as the next most concentrated fertilizer.* 2) As it is in a gaseous form in the soil, it permeates freely and uniformly throughout the zone of crop roots. 3) Since it is electrostatically affixed to the clays in the soil, it is less subject to leaching and dissipation.

We recommend Shamrock Nitromite specifically because we know how it is made, how it is handled and transported, the reliability of the dealers who sell it and the collateral services and benefits offered to the farmer.

Your Nitromite dealer is ready now to put this profit maker to work in your fields. Call him right away. He has all the information on the Shamrock Farm Credit Plan.
